

Today we met at school at eight o'clock. Then we took a tour around the school and got to see what the classrooms are like. After that trip we had a break and we went to eat something.

After the break we went back to the lecture hall and Dr Þorvarður Árnason from the University of Iceland told us about the changes of the glacier. It was really an interesting lecture.

After lunch we visited the recycle station in town and a candy factory. Of course, we got some presents from that factory.

Monday we played some card games. We also went to the town and the swimming pool. Many of us played some card games. We also went to the town and the swimming pool.
