

Solar energy is a kind of energy and an output power which exudes during various reactions in the Sun. When solar energy reaches the Earth, it determines its climate and sustains life on the Earth.

Almost all kinds of fuel existing on the Earth (oil, coal, biomass) and other types of energy (wind power energy, shallow geothermal energy) is the result of exposure of the Sun which affects the Earth.

A presentation about solar energy held by the Lithuanian students.